

The book cover is made of a light-colored, textured fabric, possibly gauze or fine mesh. It is intricately decorated with floral and geometric patterns. Four large circular medallions are arranged in a square pattern, each containing a complex, repeating floral or geometric design in shades of red, green, and brown. The background is filled with smaller floral motifs, including roses and leaves. A central, irregularly shaped label is pasted onto the cover, containing the title in a serif font. The label is surrounded by a decorative border of floral and geometric patterns. The entire cover is framed by a red and white scalloped border. The spine of the book is visible on the left, bound in a blue material.

HEINRICH
und
MARIE.