

The illustration is a complex woodcut design. At the center is a large, detailed head of a lion with a thick, flowing mane, wearing a crown. The crown is supported by two birds: a parrot on the left and an owl on the right. The lion's head is framed by a decorative border of vines and leaves. Surrounding the central lion are various animals: a tiger in the bottom left, a bear in the bottom center, a deer in the bottom right, a fox in the top left, a wolf in the top center, and a bear in the top right. There are also several birds, including a chicken, a duck, and a peacock, interspersed among the animals. The entire scene is rendered in a fine, detailed woodcut style with a monochromatic brown color scheme.
