

Undine

The book cover is a deep red color with intricate gold-tooled decorations. A central rectangular panel is framed by a double-line gold border. The corners of this panel are embellished with gold floral motifs. The space between the inner and outer gold borders is filled with a repeating red-tooled floral pattern. The entire cover is enclosed within a wide red border, which is further defined by a thin gold line. The spine of the book is visible on the left side.

