

The book cover is bound in dark brown leather with extensive gold-tooled decoration. A wide, repeating floral border frames the entire cover. Inside this is a narrower border featuring large, symmetrical gold-tooled designs: a central floral medallion at the top and bottom, and two large, stylized floral motifs on the left and right sides. The central panel is also decorated with a large, symmetrical floral design. In the center of this panel is a gold-tooled label with a decorative border containing the title and author's name.
