

Handwritten text, possibly a title or reference number, located at the top center of the page. The text is faint and difficult to decipher, but appears to be written in a cursive or semi-cursive hand.

A rectangular area of the page that has been completely blanked out or redacted with a white strip of paper.