

SHE went to the well, and she looked all around,
For she feared he had fallen within and been drowned;
And she lifted the lid with a terrified stare
But was glad when she saw little Tom was not there;
There was only an ugly old Toad to be seen,
With his great goggle eyes, and his back all so green.

