

A decorative border in dark brown ink on a reddish-brown leather book cover. The border consists of a double-line outer edge with a row of small dots between them. Inside this is a series of repeating motifs: a central heart-shaped element with a small floral design inside, flanked by stylized floral or leaf-like shapes. The corners of the border are filled with circular medallions containing floral designs. The central area of the cover is plain leather with some wear and discoloration.

Heißen,
bei Fr. W. Voedsche.